Early Thursday morning a death dealing bomb was found concealed just outside the Soo depot in this city. A bottle containing a considerable amount of dynamite and other high explosives, together with a fuse probably placed for doing a most disastrous work, was discovered by the assistant depot master, Roy Jensen, and turned over to the police officers. It is not known what the object of the person or persons who placed it there was, but it is reasonable to suspect that the fiends had no good object in view. It has been supposed for a few days past that the volunteers at Camp Moose were to be ordered away from here at any moment, and the bomb plant or probably thought they would entrain early that morning. The finding of the bomb leads one to believe that there are those here who should be dealt with with an iron hand.

Clintonville

The largest order for trucks ever given to any one concern in the United States has been awarded to the Four Wheel Drive Auto Co. of this city. It is a government order and in round figures will mean that the company will receive over $12,000,000 for the trucks which it will build for the government, with in the next few months.

The order calls for 3739 trucks of the three ton size, or the kind that this factory has made a specialty of while supplying other nations with their product. The F. W. D. Auto Co. has already sold several hundred trucks to the government and they have proven every thing the company claimed for them.

Ashland

Automatic spiral fire escapes down which the school children will slide to safety are being installed at the city schools. The fire escapes are in the form of a big tank turned on end, inside of which is a spiral tube. They are attached to the building on each floor by automatic doors. Upon the alarm being sounded, the children will go to the doors, push them open, and automatically go into the tube and emerge at the other end, safe upon the ground. The fire escapes are recommended by this state industrial commission. The big advantage of them over the old stairway is that there can be no crowding or blocking of the escape. Children may enter the tube at all floors at once without danger of collision.

Washburn

There is going to be extensive building operations at the plant of the Dabbert company at Barksdale according to plans received at the Barksdale works and it is going to mean the employment of hundreds of additional men. One of the big items of improvements is the building of four complete triton units, in addition to the six which are now already in use at the works. There are about ten new buildings in each triton unit so that this will mean the erection of about forty buildings. The enlargements contemplated will mean a general enlargement all through the plant and the work which is now to be started will keep a large force of men busy for the next four or five months, and that when the buildings are put in to use upwards of two thousand men will be employed.

L. W. W. agitators are attempting to stir up trouble on the range again and scattered the range towns with thousands of handbills declaring a strike was on and that six hour labor and $6.00 a day wages with no contract system were the demands wanted. It is thought that the bills were printed in the copper country as the same kind of handbills were distributed there also the fore part of the week it is said. The bills contained no signature of any organization nor designated no place of meeting for the men but urged them to go on a strike at once. Citizens of the range are thoroughly aroused against the I. W. W. menace and if any of the agitators are discovered in this region they will be severely dealt with. It was reported that 50 men had walked out at the Colby mine at Bessemer, where the I. W. W. has gained some foothold, but this report was found to be false. All of the mines on the range are working full crews with the exception of the Colby.

Oconto—The Oconto fire alarm telegraph system suffered a loss of approximately $1,500 when electric wires of two service companies crossed. The bells in the engine house, water works, and in the homes of firemen were burned out, and part of the alarm system in the engine house was also damaged. Only quick action on the part of the firemen saved the entire system, costing more than $3,000, from being totally destroyed. Not only did the bells burn out in the places named above, but fire accompanied, and telephone calls for help came from all parts of the city at the same time.

Hayward—Forty Chipewyan Indians from Lacourte, Indian reservation, have enlisted in the Sawyer county company, which will shortly be mobilized into the Sixth Wisconsin Infantry. One of the Indians to his two sons to the recruiting office and when one of the boys failed to pass, the father took his place and was accepted. Another Indian had his three boys, 17, 20, and 22 enlist. The Indians are anxious to go to France.

OLDER BUT STRONGER

"To be healthy at seventy prepare at forty" is sound advice, because in the strength of middle life we too often forget that the careless treatment of aches and pains undermines our strength. No alcohol in Scott's.

EAGLE RIVER

(Eagle River Review)

A party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. L. Marks, Mr. and Mrs. John Hess, Mr. and Mrs. Addison Peavey were guests at the Judge Radcliffe home Sunday. Mr. Starks as everyone knows is the potato king of Wisconsin if not the whole United States. Mr. Hess is manager of the Starks farm located at Starks, Oneida Co., consisting of 250 acres of which 60 acres are in potatoes this year the balance being in clover, oats, and pasture.

Mr. Peavey has charge of another farm at Pine Lake and also the Starks warehouse in Rhinelander. Quite naturally, they inspected the recent 60 acre purchase of Radcliffe Bros. north of town and which they will put under cultivation as fast as possible.

The committee of the Fair Association consisting of Anos Radcliffe, Peter Hedden, James Bolte, Stanley Korpala and Oscar Gunderson met at Mr. Radcliffe's office Monday night and prepared a new preliminary list. The list is much like last year's but several new items were added and the prizes were made much larger. In all $800 will be awarded in prizes. A temporary list will be sent out in a few days and the regular list will be printed and distributed soon. The fair will probably be held a little later than last year owing to the season being a little backward.

Dr. Ada Hart Arlitt and Miss Mabel Lee of Chicago are exploring the Wisconsin and Deerskin Rivers and adjacent lakes by the canoe route, much as the early explorers did, traveling when and where fancy takes them, setting up their tent at night wherever it finds them and without the aid of any men folks; in fact they rather rudely informed us that men weren't worth their salt anywhere and on a camping trip, a positive hindrance. They expect to have a pretty complete ship's log on Vilas county waterways by the time their vacation comes to an end September 1st.

Mrs. Albert Buddie returned Monday morning from Green Bay where she was called last week by the critical condition of her son Henry, who had an operation for appendicitis performed there. His condition is much better now and improving daily.

Mrs. Frank Murphy was taken to the Appleton hospital Saturday for an operation for appendicitis. It was performed Monday and she is reported as doing well.

R. C. Ziebell went to Rochester Sunday night to be operated on for a troublesome abscess. His wife and daughter returned Saturday from a month's sojourn there as patients.

LENOX

Miss Margaret Jennings and brother F. A. Jennings of Milwaukee, are visiting here a week.

All who attended the dance in the Abbe Lewis hall had a fine time.

Miss Margaret Jennings, Mrs. P. E. Palaska, P. E. Palaska and F. A. Jennings, returned to Rolling Stone Lake to fish. Miss Jennings caught the largest one, a 6 pound pickerel. Company H boys left Monday. A big crowd was at the depot to see them leave.

Rev. Kalandyk of Rhinelander conducted services here Sunday.

Lillian and Gladys Ackley were to Cranston last week.

Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Palaska, Miss M. Jennings, F. A. Jennings and Mary Beloit, returned to Cranston Sunday.

TIME TO ACT

Don't Wait for the Fatal Stages of Kidney Illness. Profit by Rhinelander People's Experiences.

Occasional attacks of backache, irregular urination, headaches and dizzy spells are frequent symptoms of kidney disorders. It's an error to neglect these ills. The attacks may pass off for a time but generally return with greater intensity. Don't delay a minute. Begin taking Doan's Kidney Pills, and keep up their use until the desired results are obtained. Good work in Rhinelander proves the effectiveness of this great kidney remedy.

Mrs. J. Standinger, 727 Arcturus St., Rhinelander, says: "I was bothered by kidney weakness and once I had to call in a physician. Finally I had the good fortune to learn of Doan's Kidney Pills, and they soon gave me relief. After I took a couple of boxes, my kidneys became normal and I had no further need of a kidney medicine until two years ago. Then trouble with my kidneys set in again and they acted too often. I again took Doan's Kidney Pills and obtained quick relief."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Standinger had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

GRANT KNOWN HERE

Reverend Albert W. Grant, a native of Stevens Point, has been appointed a vice admiral by President Wilson. The promotion is a part of a partial reorganization of the Atlantic fleet, which has been ordered by Secretary Daniels, to meet new problems resulting from expansion of the force to almost twice its normal size.

Vice Admiral Grant is personally known by many old residents of Rhinelander who formerly lived in Stevens Point.

GOLLMAR CIRCUS IN ANTIGO—Gollmar Brothers' circus will exhibit in Antigo next Thursday, Aug. 9. The show is said to be much larger this year than former seasons and has many new features. Gollmar Brothers are no longer the owners.

SOO HAS PLAN TO SAVE COAL

Railroads are making every ef- fort to economize. The Soo line has issued an appeal to its engi- neers and firemen, requesting them to use every effort to cut down ex- penses in their respective depart- ments. It is urged that as the price of fuel has increased nearly 100 per cent as compared with a year ago, every scoop of coal be used judiciously. A shovelful of coal weighs about 18 pounds. If it is possible, as it is in some cases, to use one less scoop per mile, 5 or 6 cents will be saved for the com- pany, and for the world.

Care in the use of oil, waste and other supplies, it is urged, would add materially to the general plan of economy.

Relative to the increase in price- es, the Soo line gives the following as typical percentages of higher cost in 1917 as contrasted with the 1916 cost: Railroad adzes, 125 per cent; stove pipe, 100 per cent; claw bars, 80 per cent; common padlocks, 100 per cent; firebox steel, 118 per cent; fire brick, Queen run, 116 per cent; blacksmith coal, 115 per cent; coke, 242 per cent, an increase of $8.25 being recorded in the price of this commodity.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Fletcher and Mr. and Mrs. William Schumann were Three Lakes visitors Sun- day.

It was the suggestion of those in charge of the move- ment that the Purple Cross asso- ciation bear the same relation to the quartermaster general's de- partment as the Red Cross does to the medical department of the army.

To date over $150,000 has been pledged to further the movement, and if the plan meets with the sanction of congress, it is expected that funds will be forthcoming from all parts of the country.

FARMERS MEET IN ENTERPRISE

Produce Records Showing High Financial Returns From Cows

(By W. D. Juday)

The County Representative held a meeting with the farmers of the town of Enterprise last Friday which was of more than usual interest. These farmers had been keeping records of their cows' pro- duction for a year and the meeting was held to discuss results. Some of the interesting facts brought out are as follows: Of the eight men having the work done, Adolph Schoenck had a cow making the highest returns as well as one mak- ing the lowest. His best cow re- turned $118.01 and his poorest $63.31. His herd averaged $95.12 per cow. Hasmus Johnson had the cow which produced the largest amount of butter fat, 345 pounds, and also the cow giving the larg- est amount of milk for the year, over 800 pounds. Wm. Haase had the highest testing cow, 7.67. Dur- ing the year eleven cows were dis- posed of as boarder cows, their records showing them to be losing their owners money. Most of these were scrubs and have been replac- ed with grades of good breeding. The full year's records have shown others to be in the non-produc- tive class and these will also be disposed of. A pure bred sire has been used by the community for two years. There are also two pure bred cows and two pure bred heif- ers in the community which are to be the foundation for future pure bred herds.

This is one of the most valuable pieces of work a community could do. These Enterprise farmers, as a result of last year's testing will pro- duce at least 25% more butter fat the coming year. This is only the start, too. Each year they will keep close account of their cows, and a gradual improvement will re- sult.

This work is early too. All the farmer has to do is weigh and re- cord his milk. The County Repres- entative goes to the community once each month, tests the samples of milk of the different herds and takes the milk sheets with him. A few days later the farmer is sent a statement giving him the amount of milk each cow in his herd gave dur- ing the month, her per cent of test, pounds of butter fat, pounds of butter and returns in dollars and cents at the average butter fat prices during the month. When the year closes a similar yearly state- ment is made.

With this system the farmer does not need to guess which are his good cows. Too many times he guesses wrong. The work is little requiring only about two hours per cow per year and the returns are large. Probably no one thing could add more to the farm wealth of the county than that each man milking cows keep a record of what every cow in his herd is pro- ducing.

At this time when all feeds are so high, we should see to it that none is fed to cows not paying for it. Why not every community in the county organize, select their testing day, and during the coming year know what each cow is doing.

Ninety dressed chickens were presented to Company L by the people of Sugar Camp just before the company left for Camp Douglas Monday. The chickens were taken to camp where, it is understood, they were served for supper Mon- day evening.

Sugar Camp farmers selected the choicest fowls of their flock for this offering to the company. That the soldiers appreciated both the gift and the spirit which prompted it goes without saying.

WACO PEOPLE BOOST TOWN

Statements sent out of Waco, Texas, where Company L with all the other Wisconsin troops may be sent to remain until it is sent abroad or mustered out, claim that Waco, in spite of the reputa- tion Texas has of being the hottest place in this world or the next, is a cool, comfortable spot. Waco lit- erature says that "in August and in the fall months the climate of Waco is cool and invigorating" It continues:

"Waco is situated in the plains country. Shade trees, where the camp will be located, are few. There is plenty of water, with two rivers in close proximity. The city, which has a population of about 35,000, is the county seat of Mc- Lennan county and is on the Bra- zos river at the mouth of the Bos- sue. It is about 91 miles north by east of Austin and 85 miles south by west of Dallas. It lies in a fertile agricultural region in which grain and cotton are the chief products. Cattle raising is an important industry on the graz- ing lands, which are extensive."

"Aside from an excellent water works system, there are numerous artesian wells in the vicinity which have a medicinal value sufficient to attract many health seekers. Sew- age facilities are said to be excel- lent. The rivers, while shallow, have sufficient current to prevent stagnation of the water."

PURPLE CROSS NOW ORGANIZED

J. J. Nick and F. A. Hildebrand, undertakers in Rhinelander, have joined the membership of the new- ly organized American Purple Cross.

That the body of every man kill- ed abroad may be sent to this country following the war and placed at the disposal of friends and relatives for interment, an organization has been effected in the District of Columbia which is called the American Purple Cross association. It has been incorpor- ated under the laws of the Dis- trict, and has as its officers, Dr. Howard S. Eckles, Wyncote, Pa. director; Major General J. Lewis Good, treasurer, and Dr. Jay H. Mowbray, Swarthmore, field di- rector. Prominent men from all over the country, including govern- ors and millionaires have been made trustees of this association.

With the memory of the horrible condition of the bodies of the men who were killed in the conflict between the Americans and Mexi- cans at Vera Cruz in mind, Dr. Eckles and Dr. Mowbray instigated the movement. At a conference held with Secretary of War Bak- er recently, the plan was broached. He was in favor of placing it be- fore Congress for official sanction.

It is now up in the House of Rep- resentatives as Bill No. 5410.

Even though the conflict contin- ues for years, it will be possible under the present plan to recog-

ENGINEER DIES

V. C. Wells, Chicago & North- western engineer, who was scalded in the wreck near Hurley one week ago, is dead. Mr. Wells was one of the best known engineers on the Ashland division. He is surviv- ed by his wife and three daughters. The funeral was held in Ironwood Saturday under the auspices of the Masonic lodge.

Four other trainmen injured on the wreck are reported to be on the way to recovery.

Couldn't See This Far Ahead.

"Those forefathers of ours were wonderfully far-sighted men." "Yes," replied the government clerk; "they were all right in composing up docu- ments of a general character, but they couldn't see this far into the future in framing up a tax roll."

DON'T BE A JAY WALKER

It is a natural impulse in going from one place to another, to take the shortest possible route, and unless we have the careful habit, this impulse may lead us into dangerous places, says the Grand Rapids Tribune. Probably the commonest form of danger into which this impulse leads us is that of crossing a busy street between the regular street crossings. It is never safe to do this as long as there are any moving vehicles in the street, and it is particularly dangerous to cross down town streets or streets on which the traffic is heavy.
In spite of the best efforts of careful automobile drivers, it is frequently impossible to stop in time to avoid an accident, when a pedestrian starts from behind a standing automobile or some other hiding place and starts across the path of the oncoming machine. If this is true, and all drivers will admit it, the danger of doing this sort of thing must be perfectly apparent when we consider the number of careless, thoughtless or incompetent automobile drivers there are using the streets and boulevards.
In case of an accident of this kind, the driver should not be blamed for the accident, for unless he is speeding he has the right of way, and the injured person should have crossed the street at the proper crossing.
Jay Walker is one who crosses the streets or boulevards at other than the regular crossing place. Jay Walkers are very frequently injured, as is proved by a perusal of the daily newspapers.
Don't be a Jay Walker.

HA FOLLETTE

Senator LaFollette is what folks often call "a trying person". Last March and April he put himself in the forefront of public attention by a stubborn and spectacular effort to prevent our entrance into the war—a performance which flooded the press with execrations of him.
Thereupon he retired from public view, causing four months with only infrequent participation in the debates. Now he emerges, and it turns out that he has been busy framing a tax measure which takes no account of the bills prepared by the committee, a piece of pioneering work which commands the respect even of persons, who, politically, do not like him. Senator Lodge of Massachusetts said of it:
"The senator from Wisconsin (Mr.
LaFollette) has a bill on a different system from ours—a coherent system, but a different theory. I do not agree with the theory, but there is no doubt that it is a coherent and intelligent system of raising money."
It would be difficult to exaggerate the amount of devoted application, of midnight oil, involved in this self-imposed task. On the part of Senator LaFollette, it is characteristic. His career has been divided between performances which can-only be described as capricious obstinacy, and the successful performance of unique tasks, the solving of new problems born of changed economic conditions, which could only be done through high intelligence, intense application, and real courage. Taking his more than thirty years of participation in public affairs as a whole, the balance is on the credit side.—Collier's Weekly.

PENSION FOR MINISTERS

As part of the movement general among the churches to obtain permanent funds from which pensions may be paid, the Methodist Episcopal church is endeavoring to raise $15,000,000, the interest on which will pay annuities to veteran ministers who have been retired from active service. The Wisconsin conference's quota of the total is $150,000, half of which has been procured. A great drive is now on to complete the fund. Campaigns have been conducted in the Milwaukee, Janesville and Fond du Lac districts of the conference.
The Appleton district in which Rhinelander is located, comes next.

WILL KEEP BUD BROKE

Bud Lewis, city editor of the News, need not have to worry in the future as to how he will dispose of his loose change. Bud's little brother, Harris, who is a member of the hospital corps which left this city Monday with Company L, gave Bud a timely suggestion just before his special left. Shaking his brother's hand in a last farewell Harris laughed and said: "Well, so long, Bud, if you get hold of any spare coin, which you can't spend just send it right along to me." With a lump in his throat Rhinelander's popular young journalist replied: "Don't left after I take out Kaiser's beef ident of Rhinelander, died suddenly from heart failure Wednesday evening. She was stricken on the her home, where she expired before the arrival of medical aid.

Mrs. Fremstad had a host of who knew her. A husband and four children are left to bear this great

SAMPLE OF EASTERN WISDOM

Parable That Has Come Down Through the Ages Is Worthy a Place in Memory.

"Now, as all men know, the Brahmans burn, whereas the Muslims bury, their dead; wherefore the Rajah Birbal, holding all men to be brethren, made the proverb which declares, 'Father Adam had two sons;
one was burned, one was buried.'"

"Then those who pondered mischief against him carried this word to the king with much scorn; and Akbar, seeming, as was his wont, to mock at Birbal, said to him:

"Thou wouldst have it that there is so small difference betwixt Muslim and Brahman. Then make me a Brahman."

"Even so, my lord," replied Birbal;
"I shall make a Brahman of thee as soon as I shall have finished a like task that I have begun."

"And what is this task of thine, rajah?" asked the king.

"I pray that my lord and his nobles do but come into the court of my poor house at eventide, and they shall see," answered Birbal.

"So at set of sun they came to Bibal's house, and there they beheld him carrying a shaggy-coated ass.

"Oh Birbal!" cried the king: "Is this thy so great work? Truly, a task worthy of a rajah of Akbar! What art thou doing with that poor beast?"

"Mock not, my lord," answered Bi-bal; "I am making a horse of him; and when I have accomplished that feat, I shall make a Brahman of thee."

"Thus it is said in the bazaar.
Trimming a donkey's ears will not make him a horse."—Arthur Gilder-man in St. Nicholas.

BAD HABITS TO BE AVOIDED

Incorrect Postures, Sitting or Standing, Lead to Ills Which Creep Upon the Individual.

The significance of the postures habitually assumed by individuals is the subject of serious consideration by physicians at present. Exhaustive investigations seem to indicate pretty conclusively that bad postures, such as stooping shoulders, contracted chests or protruding abdomens, are not merely the result of careless habits in the individual, but are due to some slight physical deformity which should be corrected. Generally speaking, persons who have bad posture habits are not very robust.

Everyone has observed that persons who are fatigued drop into bad postures temporarily; and there are many examples of unusually robust persons with whom bad posture was chronic.
Abraham Lincoln, for example, stooped badly; but he was very powerful and never sick. Nevertheless, a tendency to bad posture undoubtedly "adds to the trend toward weakness and chronic disease," particularly in individuals who are not naturally rugged.

Treatment of Wounds.

If the wound is touched by the hand billions of pus germs will be carried into it. If washed with water even more germs will be carried into the wound and not only that, but the deep parts of the wound which previously no germs had reached will have billions of germs carried to them.
Therefore do not handle or wash a wound. Even if an antiseptic solution is used, it will carry pus germs from the skin and deeper than they have been before and no antiseptic such as bichloride of mercury can be used strong enough to kill these germs, as it will also destroy the cells of the body and so make them less able to fight the germs. Peroxide is specially dangerous in deep wounds as it carries pus germs everywhere and is not strong enough to destroy them.
Placing a clean dressing, which means a dressing that has been sterilized sur-gically (such as the Red Cross dressing) on the wound will introduce no more germs and will not injure the delicate tissues of the body exposed in the wound. Moreover, the flow of blood and blood serum (the liquid part of the blood) will be in the direction of the dressing, so the germs will be constantly going out. This, therefore, is the way to take care of a wound.—Red Cross Magazine.

Start a Snail Farm.

All snails are edible and nutritious.
Even the common garden snail, though insipid, is as nourishing as calf's foot jelly.

There is a large white-shelled snail called Helix pomatia that is commonly eaten by connoisseurs in the South of England, while all over France, Italy and Spain several species are used for food. In France there are many small snail farms which yield a good profit to their owners. In the French and Italian quarters of New York snails may be bought, either alive or cooked, and at most of the French restaurants they are served "escargots farcis" being the most usual form of the dish.

Snails are easy to raise in large quantities. They need lime for making their shells, but they do not have to be fed, as they can find their own food, which is the leaves of many plants. They eat nothing else.

Elk Becoming a Nuisance.

Elk from the Yellowstone park were shipped to Washington, largely for their sentimental value, but it has been found that these animals can make themselves considerable of a nuisance. It is said that in a short time damage to the extent of $20,000 has been done to the apple orchards of that state by these animals.

POULTRY FACTS

EGGS AND MARKET CHICKENS

Plymouth Rocks, Wyandottes and Rhode Island Reds Are Most Popular American Breeds.

American markets prefer fowls that are medium size, that have short, plump bodies and yellow flesh and legs. The breeds that carry these requirements are the Wyandottes, Plymouth Rocks and Rhode Island Reds, says a writer in Indiana Farmer. One who wishes to combine the selling of eggs and market poultry will make no mistake if he chooses one of these breeds.

The smaller breeds of fowls—those of the Leghorn class—are not as desirable as a market fowl, for the reasons that they have small bodies and do not fatten readily. Some markets discriminate against Leghorns, quite often the prices offered being four or

Barred Rock Pullet.

Egg cents under the figures given for the larger fowls. On the other hand, if one expects to obtain the greatest possible income from eggs, it certainly would be advisable for him to handle the smaller fowls. As a class, Leghorns lay better than the larger fowls and consume less feed. A Leghorn pullet will reach laying maturity a month earlier than will pullets of the larger breeds.

The larger breeds, such as Lang-shans and Cochins, are not raised extensively for the reason that they are considered poor layers. In some sections of the country, where large roasting chickens and capons are in demand, they are profitably grown.

EGGS ARE MOST PROFITABLE

Should Be Important Source of Income From Farm Flock—Sell Broilers During Spring.

Eggs for market should be the most important source of income from the farm flock, according to M. C. Kilpatrick of the Ohio college of agriculture.
There is a steadily increasing demand for fresh eggs of good quality at profitable prices. In addition eggs are produced with less labor than other poultry products and are more economically marketed.

Poultry for market should be the second source of income. Under present conditions the larger part of the poultry meat produced on most farms is a by-product produced and sold with little regard to the cost of production.
The poultryman should plan his work so that while producing eggs for market he may obtain considerable revenue from the sale of broilers during early spring.

GIVE CHICKENS GREEN FOOD

During Winter Months Hen Must Be Given Something to Take Place of Bugs and Insects.

One reason why eggs are not laid in the winter months, even where there are pullets, is that the summer supply of worms, bugs and insects is cut off, and no meat substitute is given to take their place.

The hen is an omnivorous feeder, requiring both meat and vegetables.

Avoid "Movie" Eyestrain.

Many persons cannot attend motion pictures because of the annoying effects on the eyes. Some suffer from eyestrain and others are subject to severe headaches. The relief, in most cases, consists in perfectly-fitted glasses, according to the Popular Science Monthly. The picture may not be quite so sharp, but this is more than compensated for by the increased comfort. For persons with very sensitive eyes, a colored glass, either amber, yellowish green or amethyst, may afford immediate relief. It is also advisable for those who are liable to suffer after viewing the pictures to avoid sitting in a place where it is necessary to look upward, as the additional strain becomes very tiresome. In the majority of cases, however, if glasses are correctly fitted to a person, he or she stands a good chance of enjoying motion pictures without any attendant ill results.

Lost Art of Traveling.

Traveling went out with railways.
We are all tourists now, and tourists who come home with tales of the chef at the Metropole and the riding of one's boxes on those Mediterranean lines. When Dante and Chaucer, Froissart or Cellini traveled in Europe, they had a far harder task; but they really lived among the people they visited. Milton only traveled once in Italy, and Voltaire only came once to England; and Goethe, Byron and Shelley never saw a tenth part of the countries that any Oxford tutor scampers across in a few vacations.
But these men took time, took pains, found means to be admitted into the societies they met, and lived long enough in each place to saturate themselves with its spirit.—Frederic Harrison.

Daily Thought.

Good sense must in many cases determine good breeding; because the same thing that would be civil at one time, and to one person, may be quite otherwise at another time and to another person, but there are some general rules of good breeding that hold always true and in all cases.—Chesterfield.

Successful Appeal.

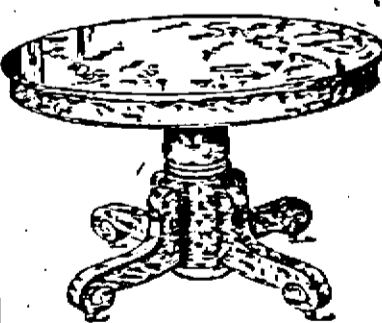

Judge—"Was that young Mr. Smith
I saw leaving the house as I entered?" Daughter—"Yes, papa." Judge—"And didn't I prohibit him coming here any more?" Daughter—"Yes, papa, but he appealed to a higher court, and mamma has removed the injunction."

WHY AMERICA IS IN THE WAR

Judge C. F. Smith And Dist.

Atty. A. J. O'Melia Talk

At Chautauqua

Monday night at the Chautauqua Judge Charles Foster Smith made a brief address in which he dwelt on the reasons of the United States for entering the world war. Judge Smith said:

"If you will go back some three years just before the beginning of the European war, you will remember that the United States announced three principles for which they stood before the world—the defense of the Monroe Doctrine; keep the war away from the western hemisphere and the freedom of the seas.

"We are in no doubt as to who was in the right. We saw England break some of the international laws but all those rules, if you will recall, related to property. England damaged our property but they damaged our own brothers and sisters. They sunk our ships without warning. They sunk ships belonging to a country and carrying the people of a country with whom they had no grievances whatever, and they did this in spite of warning from President Wilson. They began, as you will remember, with one of the most terrible disasters that ever was committed in history—the sinking of the Lusitania—the sinking of hundreds of innocent women and children with whom they had no grievance and could have no grudge.

"When President Wilson protested against this, the German government apologized and said 'we are sorry, we won't do it any more' but they did. They praised the commander—they gave him honors—they sunk some more boats. They sunk or shot at some dozen other United States boats on which there were women and children sailing. Each time, in reply to the president the German government said that they were sorry and they wouldn't do it any more. But month after month we would hear of United States boats being sunk without warning. When this had continued for some time and President Wilson had sent warning after warning to the German government protesting against those acts you will remember, that finally when the Allies were almost exhausted the Germans without any warning came out with that final ultimatum.

"We will sink any boat whether it belongs to the United States or to any neutral country if it sails on the high seas and does not go along a certain course, painted in a certain way and carrying what we say.

"Then President Wilson gave his final ultimatum that the sinking of the boats must cease or the United States must sever diplomatic relations. What else was there to do? This was after giving Germany warning that we would sever diplomatic relations. Would you stand back and say 'all right Kaiser Wilhelm if you want to sink all our boats we will stay off the high seas'.

"The ships of the United States have a right to sail on the high seas and no government has a right to say to another country, 'keep off the high seas or we will sink you'.

"The submarine warfare was not the sole cause of this war. It was the direct cause, the immediate cause, but it was not the primary cause. The primary cause was that the United States was a democracy pure (Democratie pure) and Germany was a dictatorship pure (Dictatorship pure). These two forms of government cannot exist side by side any more than a slave and a white man. The submarine warfare merely gave the United States an opportunity to see what the German government was fighting for. The Germans, by issuing that ruthless ultimatum 'keep off the seas or we will sink you' merely meant, 'keep out of our way until we whip the Allies.' And we did this until we saw that the Allies were almost whipped, until we saw that Germany refused to have peace on any proposition until they had had annexation of all territory they had conquered. Then we saw that it was high time we got in and helped the Allies in their fight against autocracy.

"Up to the time when Russia revolutionized and began a republic there was reason for doubt as to whether the United States should get into the war for the simple reason that Russia was an autocratic government, a government whose disregard of human life had been almost as great as that of the German government but when the Russian government set up a republican government then it was high time that America came in defense of democracy and had they not come in at that time we would have seen England and France and poor little Belgium annexed to the fatherland. But our English forefathers one hundred and forty years before had fought that we might have liberty and freedom and the right to do as they pleased and later in the Civil War our forefathers again recognized that liberty. Today this country is defending that same liberty against autocracy. And today the world depends on United States whether liberty and freedom as illustrated by democracy will remain triumphant in the world or whether autocracy will go down as a ruler of slaves as a ruler of poor little Belgium and Serbia."

Talk By O'Melia

Tuesday night at the Chautauqua District Attorney A. J. O'Melia gave the following brief talk on the same subject:

"The National Council of Defense is desirous of having every American citizen become familiar and conversant with the great issues now pending before the government, and which were pending before it prior to the declaration of war. It has, therefore, mapped out a plan, with the approval of President Wilson, whereby speakers may address audiences on every possible occasion and discuss, in their own way, these questions. These speakers are designated as 'Minute Men,' for the reason that they are honor bound not to exceed four minutes in making each of these talks. I have been asked to speak tonight, and the question assigned to me is on the causes of war. The causes of the war, between this country and Germany, as I see them, are:

"Because of Belgium—invaded, outraged, enslaved, impoverished Belgium.

"Because of France—invaded, desecrated France, a million of whose sons have already given their lives to save the land of LaFayette, the first land to follow ours to Republican liberty.

"Because of England, from whom came the laws, the traditions, the manner of living, and the inherent love of liberty that we now call Anglo-Saxon liberty.

"Because of Russia—New Russia. She must not be overwhelmed now, not now when she has just been born into freedom. Her people must be given their chance.

"Because of other people, with their rising hope that the world may be freed of government by the soldier.

"We are at war with German Autocracy because she first sought to terrorize us and then to fool us. We can still hear the hideous cries of children coming up from out of the sea where the Lusitania went down at the mercy of the German submarines. We saw the Sussex, 'sunk, crowded with sons and daughters of Neutral nations. We saw ship after ship go down. Ships bound out of America for Belgium sufferers. Ships carrying the Red Cross and bearing wounded of all nations. Ships conveying food and clothing to a friendly, harmless, terrorized people. Ships sailing the stars and stripes, manned by American seamen, murdered against all law with out warning.

"We are at war with Germany because she violated our confidence. She filled our cities with spies. Officials, paid by her, welcomed her as guests of this country first sought to bribe and then to terrorize us. While we were still her friend she sent the Zimmerman note, asking Mexico to lure a friendly nation, Japan, into war against us. This is a war of Democracy against the feudalistic and ancient right of the autocrat in his castle on the hill to rule the village below.

"This is a war against a government that still believes in the divine right of kings, that the state has no conscience, and that their ruler can do no wrong. Yet a country that has enlisted the aid of the Turk in making inhuman war against other Christian nations. It is a war against a country that has devised new and inhuman methods of war fare, that could only be conceived in the minds of military crazed war lords. We have seen them use blinding gases, liquid fire, and every other possible method to kill, torture and dispose of their enemy. We have seen their submarines sneak under water in the dark against defenseless passenger boats conveying men, women and children of neutral nations without giving them a chance for their lives. We have seen their air-craft dropping bombs upon defenseless cities, non-combatant and civilian population, and killing children at their studies in school. In spite of all these things we did everything possible to maintain peace. When this failed there was no other course but to declare war. We are in the war to the finish, to the bitter end.

"Yesterday we saw 218 of the noblest, bravest and most patriotic young men of our community leave their homes, their careers and every thing else that is most dear to them to sacrifice their lives if necessary, on the war stricken fields of France. But their going does not exempt this community from further service. Every man and woman has a duty to perform and the government is now calling upon you to perform that duty. If everyone does his bit, we will soon see the invader driven back from the fertile fields of France, across the desecrated land of noble Belgium, back beyond the Rhine where we will say to the kaiser that he must grant to his own people, with whom we want to remain friends, the same liberty and freedom that we fought for in '76, maintained in '65, and which, under the leadership of Woodrow Wilson, we are striving now to obtain for the entire world."

Optimistic Thought. Every man's experience is a lesson due to all.

Never Rains but It Pours. A New Hampshire man ran a mile to catch a train, lost one rubber in transit, in his excitement swallowed a chew of tobacco, and, because his gait was unsteady, wound up by being arrested on a charge of intoxication. That's what we call a run of hard luck.—Buffalo Times.

Seagulls Foretell Weather. Seagulls are undoubtedly weather prophets. Dwellers on the coast have noticed that when certain winds begin to blow the gulls collect in large flocks and fly to the fields or circle high over the land, screaming all the while uneasily. After such demonstrations it is said that a rainstorm is certain to follow.

Why Salem Is "Pepper Port." The first shipment of pepper ever brought into the United States was landed at Salem, Mass., by Jonathan Carnes, a Salem captain, in the year 1793. Other captains discovered the vast profits to be made by the importation of pepper, and so it came about that, up to as recently as 1891, Salem was known among seafaring men as the "Pepper port."

BEAUTIFUL MINOCQUA
Fortunately most of the people who will receive this paper know all about Minocqua and the country surrounding it. They also know the people who live here. As they read this issue their imaginations will help them to see Minocqua as it is today. They will think of each and every person they know here and what each and every one is doing. Old friends, old scenes, old mind pictures will come to them and they will enjoy it.
You will arrive here over the Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul or the Chicago and Northwestern by way of Woodruff. If you come over the St. Paul, you will notice our new depot built since the fire. Yes, Minocqua has recovered since the fire of 1912 and is now better than ever. If you come over the North-western you will land at Woodruff our progressive sister city and will come to Minocqua over the state road built of solid rock.
On arriving here you will notice that the old town is now a little city of many improvements. Minocqua citizens have provided themselves with a municipally owned electric light and water plant. The streets are exceptionally well lighted and the entire main street is paved with macadam. Besides the water and light plant there is the municipally owned sewerage system and the telephone system owned by the Northern Telephone Co. located at Minocqua. On walking around town you will notice the business like appearance of the up town section. During the busy hours of the day the automobile traffic and many people doing shopping at the stores gives Minocqua a regular city dress.
On strolling about town you will see that every street in Minocqua is lined on both sides with good cement side walks shaded with verdant trees. All streets have recently been regraded and turnpiked. You will see that this is a city of beautiful homes, well painted houses and well kept lawns. Minocqua residence section presents a picture of rest and full enjoyment of life.
On the old school house site you will see a fine brick school building of which we are justly proud. Here is entered the educational facilities of the entire surrounding country. Here during the winter lyceum courses are run at intervals.
You cannot help taking a peep at the lake shore around the island on which Minocqua is located. You cannot help it as you feel it when you arrive and it literally draws you to it. Mother nature made the lakes of Northern Wisconsin beautiful beyond description and summer residents have even improved on Mother nature's design by dotting the picturesque shore lines with summer homes that fit into the very scene itself. You will find Minocqua a beautiful city surrounded by natural parks as far as the eye can reach. You will find it at its best at this midsummer time.—Minocqua Times.

LUCKY WRECK NEAR HURLEY

What may be termed an exceptionally lucky railroad wreck occurred on the Northwestern road at 5:25 Wednesday afternoon when 17 northbound limited passenger train, and No. 24, east bound scout train, met in a head-on collision at the curve just east of Hurley. No. 17 left Hurley about 30 minutes late and was to have passed No. 24 on the double track at Oreva. Both trains met head-on about a half mile west of Oreva.
The fact that 17 was running at a low rate of speed was the only thing that probably prevented a serious loss of life. None of the passengers of either train was injured except to receive a severe shaking up. The engine and baggage coach on 24 were practically demolished, the coal and tender being pushed thru the fore part of the baggage coach. Engineer Wells of 24 was severely scalded from escaping steam and it is stated his injuries may prove fatal. The fireman and a boy helper on 24 were completely buried in coal in the tender and received minor injuries, while Chas. Hester, baggage man on 24 received several bruises about the face, the fact that he was in the center of the car when the impact occurred probably saving from more serious injuries. Engineer Donohue of 17 stuck to his post while the fireman jumped, but neither of them were injured. The mail clerk was the only person injured on No. 17, he receiving a severe scalp wound by being bounced up against an iron bar in the top of the coach.
None of the coaches of either train left the track with the exception of the baggage coach of No. 24. The engine of No. 17 lost its pilot but was able to back the train away from the wreck. The wrecker arrived on the scene within a short time and had the wreckage cleared away by nine o'clock. This is the third wreck that has occurred in that vicinity within the past two weeks, two ore trains having previously left the track there.—Montreal River Miner.

KISSED THE FLAG

While in Antigo a few days ago Alex Taylor, proprietor of the billiard hall at 107 S. Stevens street, had the pleasure of seeing a man who had created a disturbance at a patriotic meeting tossed up in a blanket by members of the Antigo militia company and then made to kiss the flag. The man's name was Benedict, a baker, and he is said to have been drunk when he made the remarks which aroused the ire of the soldiers.
Alex said the fellow thought at first that he was going to be hung and he whined for mercy. It did Alex's heart good to see the offender get his medicine.

INDIANS STEAL DEVIL WAGON

For operating an automobile without permission of the owner two Sugar Camp Indians, Martin St. Germain and John Big John, pleaded guilty before Judge C. S. Smith and were bound over to circuit court Friday. They were unable to secure bonds of $1,000.

SALOONS IN BAD AT TOMAHAWK

Like a thunderbolt out of a clear sky came the wholesale preference of charges against local saloonkeepers and those within a radius of seven miles save one, charged with selling illegally to minors especially to members of the Tomahawk Machine Gun company.
As we understand it the charges were made because of the outcome of the intoxicating of members of the company who had been placed on their honor by Capt. Fosnot and who had given warning to all liquor dealers that they should be careful in selling to minors. A breach of this measure was the cause of the arrests and the warrants will all be issued by today. Preliminary testimony was taken on Tuesday afternoon at the Second Municipal court rooms, Judge Bell presiding, which consumed a full afternoon. All testimony was taken from members of the company except in one instance. So long are the charges and numerous that the regular warrants were not large enough and special forms had to be used.
Speculation is very rife about the city as to what the probable outcome will be. The saloonkeepers it is stated will fight the charges. Conviction in this misdemeanor calls for a minimum fine of $5 to a fine of $50 and cancelling of the license.—Tomahawk Leader.

SETTLES CASE

On complaint of Mrs. M. Weisen, Dr. W. H. Williams, a Wausau chiropract, was arraigned before Judge C. F. Smith Saturday charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. The defendant pleaded not guilty and the court allowed him to settle in a manner satisfactory to the complainant.
Mrs. Weisen claimed that Dr. Williams received from her money on deposit for a pair of shoes, which never came.

STATE GIVES MANY TO U. S.

Wisconsin leads all middle western states but one, South Dakota, and is ninth in the nation in the record for volunteer enlistments in the army.
This was shown when figures were compiled in the legislative reference library, at the request of Gov. Philipp, from a draft table given out in Washington. According to that announcement Wisconsin has a gross quota of 28,199. The number of men in the National guard on April 1, 1917, was 4,639. Since that date 9,029 men have enlisted in the National guard and 1,586 have enlisted in the regular army, making a total of 15,274.
This leaves 12,876 to be enlisted before the state's quota is filled.
Wisconsin has enlisted 51 per cent of her quota. Fifty-nine of every 10,000 citizens have gone into the army. The only states which lead Wisconsin are Kansas, Maine, New Hampshire, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Vermont and Wyoming.

July 12-A2

With our country at war, economy of necessities becomes the duty of every patriotic citizen. If every family in the United States cooked on a MONARCH Range, thousands of tons of fuel daily would be saved for other useful purposes.

That the MONARCH Range needs less fuel to do its work is not an empty boast but an actual fact that we can demonstrate so that anyone will see it as plainly as we do. The reason lies in the manner of its construction—its seams and joints are made tight without stove putty by riveting the steel plates to the Malleable Iron castings. That means permanent, not temporary tightness.

And the most delightful part of it is that in this case true economy goes hand in hand with all of the things you want most in a kitchen Range—perfect baking, continuous satisfactory service, handsome appearance and time-saving convenience.

READING FOR SOLDIERS
Magazines and newspapers bearing recent news are being read to the soldiers in the hospital, many of whom are addressed by persons other than soldiers, and will be forwarded by mail to all soldiers in American hospitals and soldiers in Europe.

In announcing plans for gathering reading matter conveying home news and fiction to the boys abroad Postmaster General Barles suggested that magazines print the following in the upper right hand corner of their front covers:

"Notice to the reader: when you have finished reading this magazine, please place a 'C' stamp on this page, hand same to your post office employee and it will be placed in the hands of our soldiers and sailors at the front. No wrapping—no address."

A concentration station has been designated in each state for assembling of the reading matter.

ARRESTED CARNIVAL MAN

SUMMARY OF IMPORTANT HAPPENINGS IN FAR OFF NORTHLAND.

Resume of the Most Important Events in Sweden, Norway and Denmark—Of Interest to the Scandinavians in America.

DENMARK.

Theodor Jorgensen, a native of Statene, Langeland, died intestate in America, leaving an estate of $100,000. He was supposed to have no heirs. But when his death became known there suddenly sprang up a score of persons who claim the estate. At least some of them can substantiate their relationship, and the people of Langeland are glad because the $100,000 will come to their island.

The Kvissel people's high school has been sold to a man who intends to modify the plan of the school by adding courses in farming and housekeeping.

The Teachers' association has asked the government to take steps to prevent the children from using tobacco.

An internal disease is killing off the hares on the Aelø Island.

NORWAY.

A Norwegian steamer, the Thorum, in coast traffic, chartered by the Norwegian government itself with cargo of hay to relieve the fodder famine in the northern part of the country, was stopped by a German U-boat inside the three-mile line, that means in Norwegian waters; the Norwegian flag was lowered and the German flag was run up, as the German U-boat chief declared the steamer a German prize because of lack of special clearing papers. A Norwegian torpedo boat arrived, the Norwegian captain declared that as the steamer was in Norwegian waters, she was not liable to be seized by German U-boats, ordered the Norwegian flag flown again, and the German lowered. After some argument, however, he yielded to the German view and allowed the steamer to be taken as prize to a German port and the Norwegian flag for the second time displaced by the German. This happened May 18 and, upon an interpretation in the morning regarding this affair Minister of Foreign Affairs Thlen answered that the government's protest to Berlin and the assurance of the steamer being a government chartered boat had only met unwillingness to straighten out the affair and give a satisfactory excuse. On the contrary, there was no prospect of the ship being released in the near future, as the case would be tried before a prize court. More humiliating was the announcement that the Norwegian crew now would be brought before German court-martial because they, according to orders from a Norwegian naval officer in Norwegian waters, had hoisted the Norwegian flag.

International fish story. A member of the crew of the Berlin, a converted German cruiser which has been interned at Himmelvik, near Trondhjem, almost since the beginning of the war, has been in the habit of netting flounders in the bay. The other morning he found his net cut to pieces and a part of it gone. Members of the crew of the British steamer Korva, which was at anchor in the harbor at the time, were suspected, and the police boarded the ship to get light on the matter. Yes, three men had been out fishing, and their gear got caught in a net, which they pulled up and cut to pieces in order to get rid of it. The Germans tried to make out that the work was a case of malice prepense; but the authorities came to the conclusion that the English, who were young men, who knew next to nothing about the mysteries of fishing, simply and honestly knew no better.

Norway has grown rich during the war. But in spite of the golden flood there has been no such suffering in the country since 1812, when the crops failed to such an extent that people actually had to systemize the making of bread out of pine bark. Food and fuel are getting more scarce from day to day, and still worse times are in sight on account of the American embargo on the staple necessities of life.

A fire in Trondhjem spread to different points among the vast storehouses. During the fire a Norwegian steamer blew up. Supplies for the allies reported worth millions have been destroyed.

Norway has more money at present than ever before, but is lacking in food, according to Knut Backe and Anders Borresen, bankers of Christiania, Norway, on their way to the Pacific coast. Mr. Backe said that under an agreement Norway is supplying the British government with 85 per cent of its surplus fish catch, and the remaining 15 per cent to Germany. He said that if the United States refuses to sell food to Norway because of the percentage of fish sold to Germany, Norwegians will not be able to feed themselves.

FINLAND.

The "Ireland of Russia" sang its final word of defiance at the Russian provisional government and promptly translated it into action. The Finnish Landtag passed a bill declaring Finland's absolute independence from Russia as a separate autonomous state. In taking this action the separatists openly admitted that they were taking advantage of Russia's plight. They argued that Russia, confronted as she is with terrific difficulties at home and at the front, will not be able to try to repress Finland's dissatisfaction by force of arms. With disaster on the march in Galicia and the German big guns booming on the Riga-Dvinsk front, any military steps to enforce Russia's authority on Finland seems to be out of the question. On the other hand, to leave the Finnish secession unchallenged would be inviting the Ukraine and many other provinces to follow Finland's lead.

The Finnish Landtag, having by a vote of 165 to 27, declared the necessity of immediately voting the autonomy bill, adopted it forthwith in full by a vote of 136 to 53. The Landtag rejected by a vote of 104 to 88 an amendment by Deputy Cullas proposing that the bill should be submitted for the approbation of the Russian provisional government.

SWEDEN.

The position of the conservatives in Sweden, as in other countries, is precarious. The autocracy of Russia crumbled down under the first serious attack of the revolutionary forces and this result has given a tremendous encouragement to the liberal elements of Sweden during their fight for political equality for men and women. The whole aspect of Swedish politics has changed during the last months. The great masses are not any longer satisfied with empty words from the government and the riksdag. They want action, and quick action, as the only means of preventing them from taking matters into their own hands. The riots, which took place outside of the palace to the riksdag are an illustration of the new spirit of action among the Swedish working class. Policemen and soldiers in hundreds had to be used against the masses, trying to force a passage to the building of the Swedish parliament, and a great number of people were injured. Such occurrence would have been impossible in Sweden only a few months ago. In his powerful newspaper, the Social Demokraten, Hjalmar Branting interprets the demonstrations as a warning to the king and the ruling class not to oppose the will of the people after the result of the elections has been made clear. Up to the present time the iron will of M. Branting has succeeded in keeping the great majority of social democrats from putting a program of drastic action into practice. But the limit of their endurance has now been nearly reached, and the bulk of Swedish socialists are said to be ready to back up their demands with action if the introduction in Sweden of a government more favorable to the people is postponed very much longer.

In the London prize court the attorney general asked for the condemnation of some 7,500 tons of dried fruits from New York and San Francisco, seized on the steamers San Francisco and Pacific, consigned to the Swedish victualing commission, a government department, but alleged to be intended for export to Germany. Before the war, said the attorney general, the annual requirements of Sweden in these commodities were 6,500 tons, but in 1915 the imports had totaled 11,524 tons, while for the first half of 1916 6,500 tons had been imported. Besides this, he added, Sweden had on hand before the war 11,000 tons of these fruits, yet in the summer of 1916 20 dried fruits remained in Sweden.

Three Germans, one of them a captain of marines, have just been expelled from Sweden for espionage, which unquestionably resulted in the sinking of many ships. Their seat of operations was Gothenburg, and their reports appear to have been made through Copenhagen. One posed as a merchant, the second as a teacher of languages, and the third, who was the leader, as a wholesale merchant.

P. P. Waldenström, the famous leader of the Mission Covenant, died July 14 in Stockholm. For half a century he was very prominent in the religious life of Sweden, and it may be added that no matter what this man said or did, he was always interesting.

The body of King Carl XII was exhumed July 13 in order that it might be established whether the bullet that ended his life 129 years ago came from an assassin or from the Norwegian fortress of Fredriksten, which he was investing.

Since June 1 it has been impossible to be served with any kind of liquor in Sweden without an accompanying order for a warm meal costing about 40 cents. Even then no more than about five fluid ounces of liquor may be served in all, and not more than a third of this may consist of strong brandy. One result of the new order unquestionably has been a great waste of food for countless meals are ordered and either left untouched or else slightly toyed with and mixed with cigar and cigarette ashes by careless people.

NO BAD POTATO BUG INVASION

Potato growers of the state are safe this year from any serious invasion of the potato bug, according to Andrew Hopkins, Agricultural editor at the University, who has just returned from a tour of the state.

Last summer less than half the crop was harvested as a result of the havoc wrought by the potato bug.

Fungus diseases, coming as a result of damp weather, are the greatest menace this season. Mr. Hopkins says. The general outlook is good, however, and thru the standardization of the product Wisconsin this year be able to add to her already enviable reputation as a potato growing state.

Paris green, arsenic of lead and other poisons will kill potato bugs effectively if applied on time, according to university experts.

Poisons are to be applied when the young colonies begin feeding, according to the directions issued by the Agricultural Extension division. A small amount of arsenic will kill the young bugs, but when left to feed several days large amounts of poison are required to kill them and the vines are badly damaged. Paris green in dry form may be dusted on the vines, and a combination of powdered arsenate of lead and Paris green have been used successfully by some growers.

Arsenate of lead is the cheapest remedy and can be easily secured. Good results are obtained from its use. Complete directions for fighting the bug may be secured from the state council of defense or from the agricultural extension division at the university.

COMMUNICATION

July 30, 1917.

To the Hon. Highway Commission, of the State of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis.

Why did you in 1916 approve of State Aid Highways built in Oneida county at a cost of $2150.88 per mile when the State Aid roads in Vilas county cost $1103.94 per mile?

The tax payers of Oneida county through this association complain, and we think justly, of the excessive cost of roads in this county over the cost of state aid roads in adjoining counties. Price county which adjoins Oneida county on the whole west line for twenty-four miles built 27 83.100 miles of State Aid road through swamps, heavy timber, rocky ground and mostly over the Price county roads claim of our association who have driven new roads, many of them surfaced with crushed rock, at a cost of $1314.18 per mile and the members they are much better than Oneida county roads. The state and county highways built in Oneida county are under the survey and approval of engineers working for the state highway commission.

We do not intend to criticize or find fault with the present method of road building in Oneida county without suggesting a remedy. In that connection we think your commission should immediately cause a thorough investigation to be made of the method used in building state aid roads in this county. And if it is found that your engineers are at fault then they should be at once replaced by competent and efficient men.

We are so impressed by the importance of this matter to the tax payers of this county that we shall publish this letter for their information.

Yours very truly,
Oneida County Taxpayers Ass'n.,
By A. W. Brown, Pres.

"Sacred Branch"

Perhaps no emblem of yuletide is invested with so much of charm or religious significance as the "sacred branch" known as the mistletoe. With its curious habits and properties, its mystical symbolism, its quiet traditions, it is both weird and romantic. To the occultist, the mystic, the student of religions, it is a treasure-trove taking him far back on the tide of time, for all races, nations and faiths have their myths and philosophies corresponding to the cult of the mistletoe in ancient Britain and based on the homage attributed to some mystical plant sacred to the deity in manifestation—the word made flesh.

"An Eye for an Eye"

"Lex talionis" means the law of retaliation. It provided that the punishment should be the same in kind as the crime. Thus we have the expressions, "An eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth." "Whoso sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed." Many other expressions like these are found in the Bible and elsewhere.

Perpetual Cander.

"I suppose that when you make a speech you mean every word of it." "Every word," replied Senator Borah. "And I'm just as much in earnest when I discover that there are some parts of it that I had better modify or retract."

ARE MARRIED IN GLADSTONE

Miss Nancy Gillen of this city became the bride of Joseph Blake of Gladstone, Mich., in that city, Monday, July 23. The ceremony took place in the Catholic church and was performed by Rev. Father Bennett. Miss Ella Gillen of this city, attended her sister, and Leslie Zalkle of Sheboygan was groom's man. Following the wedding the guests were served with an elaborate breakfast at the residence of Hudson Murphy. After an extended trip in the west the young couple will come to Rhineland for a visit with the bride's mother, Mrs. Malcolm McEachin. They will then go to Gladstone to reside.

Mr. and Mrs. Blake have a large number of friends in Rhineland who wish them a long and happy wedded life. She has lived here for a number of years and is a very pleasing young lady. Mr. Blake is one of the competent employees of the Soo railway company, being a locomotive engineer, and is popular among his fellow workers. The New North extends congratulations.

Ben Burrows, formerly of this city, is now night superintendent of the paper mill in Sartell, Minn.
